Prize award

In 2023, in its fourth iteration, the Adam Kilgarriff Prize attracted 10 impressive applications. The Prize was awarded to Elena Álvarez Mellado for her leading role in the development of the highly original Observatorio Lázaro, a pipeline for the automatic retrieval of English loanwords in the Spanish press. There is a Twitter bot (@lazarobot), giving the project a social dimension, and the various assets associated with the Lázaro website (including annotated corpora, annotation guidelines, project code, detection models and output data) have been made publicly available.
